If your Wellculator™ score has left you pondering your next step, consider embracing the philosophy of tiny habits. Prof. BJ Fogg's concept is simple: start small, anchor new behaviors in your daily life, and celebrate growth. This approach transforms mountainous goals into walkable hills.

Suppose your Wellculator™ score suggests more hydration or stretching could benefit you. Here's how tiny habits might look:

- Pair a glass of water with your morning coffee.
- Integrate five minutes of gentle stretching into your bedtime routine.

It's about consistency, not complexity. Small, daily actions can lead to significant health improvements over time. Also feeling good and celebrating every small step helps to reinforce the behavior!

How Food Drives Your Body's Groove

By Amanda Archibald

In January, we told you that exciting changes are on the horizon. We're introducing a groundbreaking dining experience in March designed to optimize your health from the inside out and it starts with your genes. Now we want to tell you a little bit more about this dining experience.

You, Your Genes and Your Plate

Genes are the remarkable instruction manuals within each of your cells. Genes house your DNA—which is your unique code (or recipe) for life. Picture your genes as the architects of your existence. This genetic blueprint, inherited from your parents, shapes both who you are and how your body functions. Your genetic blueprint does not sit in a drawer. In fact, it is active every moment of every day. Thanks to modern science (genomics), we now know a lot more about how to get the best out of our unique Gene Blueprint to influence our health. And the great news is that a lot of influence comes through the food we consume. Nutrients in your diet and other molecules in your food called bioactives act as signals that can turn genes on or off. This means that you can literally target different aspects of your well-being by choosing food that turn individual genes on or off depending on if, when and whether you need those genes to work.

Examples of Powerful Food-Gene Conversations

Cruciferous vegetables (think cauliflower and arugula) and other nutrient-rich foods have the power to turn on genes that produce potent antioxidants, serving as a front-line defense for your cells and overall health. B vitamin-rich legumes, mangos, oranges, and Brazil nuts can activate genes that help remove harmful molecules from your body. Pumpkin and sesame seeds can boost genes responsible for producing serotonin, the hormone that helps to enhance your mood.

A New Science for Eating and Dining

The science we are describing above is called Nutrigenomics. Nutrigenomics explores how nutrients and information in the food you eat interact with and influence your genes. It's a fascinating "food-gene conversation" that goes beyond just "good for me," allowing you to make food decisions that influence your unique gene instruction manual.

Introducing to the Menu

Starting in March your menu will feature dishes that invite you to savor and experience the potency of gene-influencing foods firsthand. It's a fresh and revolutionary approach to eating, cooking, and dining that links the food you enjoy to your overall well-being.

Get ready for a dive into the world of personalized and health-focused dining.
